More Information

We are proud to announce we have signed a new partnership with Hikvision, further expanding our product portfolio.

HikVision is a leading CCTV, Video, and IoT solution provider. Core technologies include audio & video encoding, video image processing, and related data storage, as well as new technologies such as AI, cloud computing and big data. HikVision products can be found in many verticals but particularly public surveillance, transportation, retail, education, healthcare, financial institutions, and smart cities.

Product Portfolio

With the world's largest and most impressive portfolio of 60GHz and mmWave, cutting edge technology, Siklu has been heavily involved in the Facebook Terragraph project, making significant contributions. This has resulted in an exciting new series of products such as the MultiHaul™ TG N366 and companion, MultiHaul™ TG TU series.

Terragraph is set to deliver Gigabit connectivity for all. This brand-new wireless technology has been designed to meet the ever-increasing demand for reliable, high-speed internet access in dense and urban environments. This includes solutions for applications such as high bandwidth IoT devices such as video cameras and public Wi-Fi backhaul and smart city connectivity.
